

Annual Meeting is September 24 Come and Meet Fellow Retirees at RSEA's Annual Meeting in Austin

RSEA's annual meeting on Friday, September 24 will feature good food, fine fellowship and featured speakers. Make plans now to attend this annual reunion/information event at St. Louis Parish Hall, 7601 Burnet Road in Austin. RSEA members may bring one guest to the meeting.

The meeting will begin with registration from 8 – 9 a.m. that includes coffee, juice and donuts.

President Bill Hamilton will open the business session at 9 a.m. Committee chairmen will present reports and last year's minutes will be up for approval. An important part of the business session will be nominations for three officer and three board positions followed by a vote of all members.

ERS executive director Ann Fuelberg will be the keynote speaker. Her address will include time for questions and answers so come prepared with your questions. In fact, we recommend that you write out your questions beforehand and give them to Fuelberg or her staff.

Other guests at the meeting will include legislators or legislative staff, and maybe even a political candidate or two. They will have time to meet and greet RSEA members but will not give an address.

The guest speaker at this year's meeting will be Dr. Richard (Nick) Grant, noted Austin consulting psychologist. He is a well known motivational speaker and has presented educational programs for the business community. Dr. Grant is a lecturer at the University of Texas McCombs School of Business and has a private consulting practice in Austin. The title of his talk is "Hybrid Vigor: How Our Differences Build a Stronger America."

A drawing for various door prizes will be held throughout the morning session. The Polkadillos, a polka group from the Austin-based New Horizons band, will keep things musically lively while members and guests dine on barbecue at the noon luncheon.
